DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-2, 6-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Moore.

Moore discloses in figure 1, a safety shield that anticipates a keyboard posture device comprising a rigid lateral support member (the mid portion of 10 that the chain passes under), left and right side rigid strut portions (the smaller portions on each side of the mid portion), left and right rigid arm restraints 12 that form left and right arm crooks (the bends or arcuate shaped of 12) and a means 18 for securing the device to the torso. The left and right rigid arm restraints are curved outward (the curved portions of the cuff 12 are curved outward) and the rigid lateral support section, the left and right rigid side strut portions and the left and right rigid arms restraints are a fixed length (fig. 1).

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 4-5 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Davis.

Davis discloses in figures 1-2 a theft prevention device that anticipates a keyboard posture device comprising a rigid lateral support section 9 that is adjustable in length (fig. 2, adjustable in length along the longitudinal axis of the device), left and right side rigid strut portions 10 (that are adjustable in length along the longitudinal axis of the device) and left and right rigid arm restraints (11, 13), extending from the strut portions (fig. 2) and away from each other (fig. 2) to form left and right arm crooks (the members 13 form crooks, bends).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3 and 18 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 8-16 are allowed (pending the approval of the terminal disclaimer submitted on August 15, 2205)

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-2, 4-7 and 17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
